LCD Screens.

We can now supply a range of daylight viewable LCD screens for window use.

These can be operated via a system from you own computers where you download and change the information yourself or via a link to your web site through a portal such as rightmove or similar sites. This means that when you up upload or change details on your site they will automatically be uploaded to your window displays overnight. We can customise the way the web page appear on your screens and add your own promotional material in if required.

The screen surround can be finished in various colours if you need to match your corporate theme.

Higher brightness screens are available in 20", 26" and 32" with larger sizes being added shortly.

The same systems can be used to drive internal screens that do not need to be as bright as the window units.

We don't just sell components or off the shelf displays. We offer advice on displays and work out display schemes for you including visuals where required.
